Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

A DOCTOR'S EXPERIMENT IN TRANSFUSION OF THE BLOOD.

[By the Fat Contributor.]

Since Dr. Dawson of our city has successfully accomplished the scientific feat of transfusing blood all the doctors are crazy to make the experiment. We hear of one who has tried it with the most astonishing results. His first experiment was in treating a man for obesity. He thought that there was too much fat in his blood and concluded it would be a very good thing to mix veinous fluid from a very lean animal with it. The best he could do was to get a poor old broken-down circus horse of Mike Lipman, whose blood seemed thin enough to inhale, almost. The experiment was successful so far as draining the circus horse of his gore and shooting it into the patient was concerned, but the effect on that fat man is more than the doctor counted on. His wife went walking with him the first time he was able to be out, and a band of music passing on the street, he began to prance around, snort and kick up his heels in the most ridiculous manner.—For an elderly and unwieldly person of 300 pounds, or such a matter, to behave in such a frisky way on the street, excited shouts of laughter, although the old man couldn't help it for the life of him. His wife don't go out walking with him any more. She says if he is going to play circus he can't play it with her.

The fit comes on him every once and a while now. He has nearly broken his neck several times trying to jump the clothes horse in a hurdle race; he was caught one day backing up a rickety stepladder on all fours, imagining he was Dan Rice's "Excelsior." He is perfectly delighted if he can find sawdust to play in, and he goes around hunting for the clown's pocket-handkerchief, which instinct tells him is covered up somewhere about.

They missed him early one morning and, after a long search, discovered him in a vacant lot where were the remains of an old circus ring. He was in his undershirt and drawers, and going around that ring on a dead run with the youngest child astride of his neck, head hanging down and yelling like a "painter." When they tried to stop him he reared and plunged frightfully and shouted for the "banners."

Discouraging as the result of his experiment was, the doctor tried it again. He had a patient who was constitutionally flighty, besides having some disorder of the nerves that kept him twitching continually. He couldn't sit still two minutes at a time, but went hopping about here and there without any apparent cause or reason, sometimes acting as though he wanted to fly.—"Here is a patient," reflected the doctor, "who would be benefitted by the transfusion of blood from some animal of a sluggish nature," and he finally concluded that an elephant would be the right sort of animal for that man to hitch a suction pipe to. But elephants are not picked up every day. They don't go loafing around the streets waiting for some one to come along and tap them for their blood. But it chanced that one of Old John Robinson's elephants was left home on a little vacation, and the doctor obtained permission to draw on him, which he did. The patient's veins were filled with the elephant's blood; but what was the consequence? He insists on a mingled diet of hay and gingerbread, and can't sleep nights unless his leg is chained to a stake driven in the ground. He insists on taking his trunk with him wherever he goes, swinging it around for contributions of apples, peanuts and tobacco quids. His chief delight is to get a dirty red blanket on his back, and gravely walk the streets on all fours. He exhibited the utmost timidity in crossing a bridge, and bellows fearfully if he has any doubt about its integrity. He was bad enough when he had the jerks, but now they find they have got an elephant on their hands.

THE POWER OF MONEY.—This is a strange story, not to be used at Sunday school. An Albany man, out of work and nearly starving, turned for comfort in his extremity to his sainted mother's Bible, for the first time since her death in 1867. To his surprise and delight he found a ten-dollar bill between the leaves, and immediately fell on his knees for the first time since 1840.—With a light heart and glittering eyes he prayerfully started for the baker's shop to obtain a loaf of bread. There he found that the bill was a counterfeit when he swore bitterly for the first time in three hours.

A Brooklyn sewing society fines any member who talks scandal, one dollar for each offense; only the wealthy are able to attend.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

We, the delegated representatives of the Republican party of Illinois, declare the following to be substantially our political belief:

1. That emancipation and enfranchisement having been secured by the Thirteenth and Fifteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States, and by appropriate legislation for their enforcement; and equality of civil rights having been guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment, such guaranty should be enforced by appropriate statutes, so that the broad ægis of Federal power may be over black and white citizens alike.

2. That, as one of the consequences of the late civil war, about $382,000,000 of non-interest bearing Treasury notes were issued to, and are now held by, the people as a safe and convenient currency, it would be unwise and inexpedient, in the present financial condition of the people, to attempt the immediate cancellation of any portion of such Treasury notes.

3. That the laws for the establishment of national banks having secured to the States and Territories the best system of bank circulation ever before afforded the people, it should be no longer confined to a privileged class, but should be free to all alike, under general and equal laws, the aggregate volume of currency to be regulated by the untrammeled laws of trade.

4. That we re-affirm the declaration of the National Republican Convention of 1872, in favor of a return to specie payment at the earliest practicable day.

5. That we commend the measures which have passed the popular branch of Congress, looking to the cheapening and perfection of Inter-State railway transportation, and the improvement of navigation at the mouth of the Mississippi river.

6. That we are in favor of an amendment of the Constitution of the United States providing for the election of the President and Vice President by the direct vote of the people, without the intervention of the Electoral College.

7. That the Republican party proposes to respect the rights reserved by the people to themselves, as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Federal Governments; and it will aim to secure the rights and privileges of the citizen without regard to nativity or creed; and it is opposed to interference by law with the habits, tastes or customs of individuals, except to suppress licentiousness, or to preserve the peace and safety of the citizens of the State.

8. That while we accord to the railway companies of this State the fullest measure of property rights, we also demand for the people reasonable charges and rigid impartiality in the transportation of passengers and freight—such guaranty to be secured by appropriate State and National legislation.

Relying upon the foregoing declaration of principles and policy, and upon the broad, clear record of the Republican party during its fifteen years of State and Federal administration, we appeal once more to that silent yet conclusive tribunal, the ballot-box, confident that the people will endorse overwhelmingly the action of this representative Convention.

ISHMAELITISH.

The "Consolidation" is a regular Ishmaelite in journalism—its hand is against every man, and pretty much every man's hand is against it. Nearly every day it pours out its vials of wrath upon the heads of the Republicans, and when that fails to appease the belligerent nature of its "political editor" it turns upon the "sour mash" party, and attempts to demolish the polite and affable Tommy Lee. Like the hen which attempted the task of incubation on a tub full of eggs, however, it has undertaken too big a job, and it is extremely doubtful whether a single chick will reward its heroic but misdirected efforts. Better attend to the interests of the Modoc chief, and let the Republicans and "sour mash" fellows take care of themselves. "One war at a time," you know.

"THAT THAR LAW"—Last evening Shaw Pease and "Capt." Jack addressed the faithful at Boody. Twenty-one voters were present. After both the candidates had spoken Bob Hill got up and said he wanted to know how they stood "on that thar law that made the niggers equal with his children in the public schools." "Capt." Jack first replied by saying that he had always been a Democrat, and after some other palaver of that kind alluded to the fact that he had been a county superintendent of schools in Pennsylvania, but, strange to say, he forgot to tell whether he was in favor of repealing the law or not. Mr. Pease stated that he had been a Republican and an abolitionist, but sat down without making any promise that would be consoling to Bob Hill. Then Bill Deakin had his say, and F. A. Brown talked some, and nearly everybody in the house joined in the discussion, but no definite conclusion was arrived at, although the conference was kept up until nearly midnight. Bob Hill and his flock, however, were determined not to vote for any man who was not in favor of the repeal of "that thar law."

The proprietors of the Decatur REPUBLICAN have set up a confessional in their little 6x7 editorial room. In their issue of Monday the 12th inst., these confessionalists put a question to Mr. Corman, one of the proprietors of this paper, and no no doubt expect from him an answer—some sort of confession. Well, here it is: It is none of their business whether Mr. Corman did or did not say anything, restrictedly or otherwise, about Mr. Pickrell's calibre. —Consolidation.

That's about as small an aperture for a full-grown man to crawl through as could well be imagined. For six weeks or more that sheet has been persistently and stoutly denying that its "editor" ever attributed to Mr. Pickrell a want of calibre, and at last, when we call upon the "editor" by name for an explicit answer to the charge, he childishly cries "none of your business." There must be a lie out somewhere.

QUERY by the Springfield Journal: Andrew Johnson repudiates the charge that he was ever a Republican, and claims to be a candid and straightforward Democrat. In a speech at Chattanooga the other night, he said that "the bondholders had already received in interest more than they paid for their bonds," and he advocated "the repudiation of the entire bonded debt of the State and of the nation." This is plain and straightforward. But what do the Illinois "Opposition," who have resolved that the national debt must be paid "in the world's money," think of it? Do they approve Andy's position? Is Andy indeed a Democrat?

VON ARNIM AND BISMARCK.

From the Chicago Tribune.

Count Von Arnim, one of the ablest diplomatists of Germany, and successively Ambassador to Rome and Paris, lies in prison because he refuses to surrender to Bismarck certain letters which he received from him while Ambassador at Paris. Von Arnim was removed from office because of a correspondence with Dr. Doellinger, in which he expressed his dissatisfaction with the harsh measures of the German Ministry against the Catholics. After his release he retired to his estate at Nassenheid, with the intention of preparing a statement of his differences with the Government. Bismarck, it would seem, was afraid of the effect which that statement would have upon the country if produced. The publication of Bismarck's correspondence would do much to advance the interests of the Opposition and to injure Bismarck. Hence the Chancellor sent four policemen and two employes of the Foreign Office, on Sunday last, to Von Arnim's house to ask for the surrender of his correspondence with the Premier.—The penalty of his refusal was immediate imprisonment.

Such an arbitrary proceeding could, of course, take place in no country in which the rights of the individual are respected. Bismarck's act was a bold one,—bolder, it may be, than the German people themselves will sanction. It is a violation at once of personal liberty, of the sacredness of domicil, and of the right of self-defense. If Count Von Arnim has anything to say against the course of Prince Bismarck in removing him from his position as Ambassador at Paris, he has a right to say it, and it is the plainest despotism to interfere with him to prevent it. There is no good reason why Prince Bismarck should be exempt from criticism, much less why he should be permitted to arbitrarily imprison the man who, he suspects, harbors the intention to criticise him. Bismarck may lose more by this attempt to suppress the threatened statement of Von Arnim than he would have lost by its publication. All friends of personal liberty in Germany must deprecate his act; and, in a country where there is so much intelligence, there must be a little love of genuine freedom.

DEAD ISSUES.—Democracy charges the Republican party with trying to revive the "dead issues" of the past. When these dead issues come to us in the shape of murdered Republicans, whose only crime was the color of their skin, or loyalty to the government that gave them freedom and citizenship, we have a right to deal with them, and to insist that freedom of opinion, protection to life, liberty, and property, the restoration of law, order, and security throughout the land—though dead issues in the sight of the Democracy—shall not be lost sight of as among the live issues before the American people to-day. When these issues are met and settled forever; when an enlightened public sentiment and a rigid enforcement of the law shall make life, property, and freedom of opinion as secure in the Southern States as they are to-day in the North; when the shadow of Democratic repudiation shall pass away and all sections shall be eager to maintain the credit of the nation as one of the sacred trusts of the past; when danger no longer threatens the peace and prosperity of the country, and honesty and loyalty become the basis of party organizations, it will then be in order for Democracy to claim that the mission of the Republican party is ended. Until this happy time arrives the people must cling to the Republican party as to the rock of national safety.

REFERRING to the approaching ceremony of unveiling the statue of President Lincoln, to occur in Springfield on Thursday next, the Chicago Journal says:

"A vast concourse of grateful citizens will assemble to witness the unveiling of the statue, and its formal acceptance as a tribute to the memory of the martyr President. The address on the occasion will be delivered by Senator Oglesby, a very intimate friend and efficient co-worker in the anti-slavery and Union cause. It was by Governor Oglesby that Mr. Lincoln's name was brought before the Illinois Republican State Convention for the Presidency, at Decatur, and the enthusiasm of that occasion was felt in the Chicago convention. It will be remembered that Mr. Oglesby presented to the Decatur convention one of the original rails split by "Honest Abe" in his pioneer days. That piece of wood had a magic power. It served as fuel for an enthusiasm which blazed into a national conflagration. One week from to-day the orator of the rail will associate the sacred name of Lincoln with a most exquisite and enduring work of art. All that is rough, uncouth, and perishable in the sainted statesman has been exchanged for an immortality of ineffable glory.

SALT LAKE, Oct. 12.—This evening Deputy Marshal Pratt and Marshal Maxwell, while attempting to serve a subpœna on Brigham Young, were refused admittance, and the latter was assaulted by the doorkeeper. Maxwell afterwards returned with a posse, when he was met by Mayor Wells with an acknowledgement of the service on Young. The Mayor apologized for the assault, and said it was unknown to the Mayor.

GRAND AND LOFTY TUMBLING.

From the Danville Commercial.

Horsemanship is a glorious thing. To cling to the backs of the prancing steeds is enchanting and elevating beyond conception. Circus curvetting, bare-back riding and lariating the gay and festive Mustang pony amid the chaparral and savannahs of the south are each and all acts of development of the moral character that are benign beyond calculation.

In all ages of the world the drama had been admired, and the arena, where the gaudily comprisoned horse and his heroic rider have displayed themselves to the bewilderment of a loving and intelligent audience, has been counted one of the mighty moral levers by which mankind is to be lifted up from his low estate and placed upon a higher level. How true this is all history attests. If we go back two and a half millenium of years we find the high taught Greek crowning with laurel the hero who could ride a switch-tailed filly bare-back and not get "flung." The trainers in the circus tent were the custodians of the virtues of the youth of that far off day. The hippodrome flourishes like the bay tree and the acrobat and the rope dancer were the demi-gods. The meek dromedary carried his soggy rider and made no fuss about it. The elephant bore with commendable patience his burden, and the brawling ass bent in mild submission beneath the panniers on which the burden was lashed. But the horse, the charger, the noble steed of the plain, with his wild Bedouin upon his back, was left to serve as the true moral trainer. And true, heroic riders were found in those dim days of other years—riders who could "stick to the horse as the horse did go." But in the primeval times the horse and the driver went the same way—both the same way, mind.

In that grand old myth of Zendibad, so beautifully told in that book of verities, "The Arabian Knights," where Panko rides two horses at the same time and with such perfect success that every urchin in Bagdad was found riding two broomsticks thereafter, we see a great truth. But in the case of Panko and the horses, the urchins and the broomsticks, all went the same way at the same time. Herein consisted the morals of the crude ancients; if a fellow among them rode two horses at the same time both went the same way. It was left for lofty genius to reverse this rule. Modern education has done it. Opposite directions are now counted the same course.

Etter rides two horses going in opposite directions. This is education. Hippo the founder of the drama, is eclipsed; Equine, the "rider of horses," is, by this latter gift, "hornswaggled." It is well. Let the children be taught these things in the public schools. Let the superintendent take charge of this new style of horseback riding. Selah.

SERIOUS opposition has been developed to the confirmation, by the house of Bishops, of the newly elected Bishop of this diocese, Dr. Seymour, on the ground of his ritualistic tendencies. Rev. Drs. Sullivan and Powers and many other prominent churchmen in Chicago, have signed a protest to the General Convention against the election, and so much feeling has already been developed that it is not unlikely that both the convention and the Bishop elect may deem it best for the interests of peace and harmony that the latter should not take the Episcopal seat. At any rate the protest will probably cause some definite and important action on the question of ritualism.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—A dispatch from Fort Worth, Texas, says Gen. MacKenzie, after repelling two attacks on the 26th and 27th of September, marched all night on the 27th, and surprised at sunrise the following morning five camps of Cheyennes and their allies, situated in Canyon Litro Blanco, on Jute creek, near the fork of Red river. The troops destroyed over 100 lodges and their entire outfit, and captured 1,424 horses and mules, of which 1,048 were at once killed. The bodies of four Indians were brought in. Our loss was one soldier slightly wounded. Gen. MacKenzie is in hot pursuit, with thirty day's supplies.

HUMBOLDT, KAN., Oct. 12.—President Grant was enthusiastically cheered as he passed through here to-day.

CADDO, INDIAN TER., Oct. 12.—The Choctaw nation here with a large number of citizens met the President's party to-day, and gave them a hearty welcome. The President replied, expressing great interest in the future of the nation. The party go to Leavenworth, and thence to Springfield.

CHATTANOOGA, October 12.—The Southern Republican Convention assembles here to-morrow. Brooks, of Arkansas, will probably be permanent president. It is understood that instructions have been received from New York and Washington not to indorse the civil rights bill and third term.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The Sixth District Republican Congressional Convention to-day nominated General Butler by a vote of 162 to 100.

Everybody wanting first-rate boots or shoes at reasonable prices, should be sure to patronize the well filled store of V. Barber & Co. Their purchases of fall stock have been very heavy, and they have a full line of all styles and qualities. Their prices are always as low as the lowest.

GRANT IN THE INDIAN NATION.

News from the Frontier.

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 13.—The following appears in the Journal this morning, with reference to the unveiling of the Lincoln statue next Thursday:

The proceedings of Committees charged with the duty of making preparations for the great events of the week, the Reunion of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee, and the dedication of the Lincoln Monument, are elsewhere noted. The arrangements progress very satisfactorily, and everywhere the busy note of preparation is apparent. The decoration of the beautiful arches spanning the streets was yesterday pushed forward toward completion, and the emblems and mottoes will very much enhance the beauty of the grand street decorations. Already the stores are in process of decoration, and so are the public buildings. The illumination at night promises to be quite general, our people entering into the spirit of the occasion with heartiness auguring well for the success of the occasion, locally considered.

Advices continue to be received of a very general participation in the exercises by distinguished persons throughout the country, and by military and civic societies, municipal bodies and organizations in various portions of the State. A telegram was yesterday received, in addition to the press dispatch, stating that Secretary of War Belknap, and the distinguished party from Washington are en route by special train for this city, and their arrival is expected to-morrow morning, by the T. W. & W. Railroad. Besides Gen. Belknap, the party includs Gens. Fry, Heintzelman, Bingham, Beckwith, Beriet, Pelouze, Callender, and Col's. Martin, Barker, and Miller. Gen's. John Pope, Geo. A. Custer, and Giles A. Smith will also arrive during the day. As stated yesterday, President Grant and party, and other distinguished persons, will arrive early to-morrow morning. Gen. Sherman, will, as heretofore noted, arrive from St. Louis this evening by a special train on the Chicago & Alton railroad, and will be accompanied by a large party of distinguished officers. The party will be met at the train by the committees of reception, and escorted to their headquarters by the Governor's Guard. Upon the arrival of the train the party will be saluted with cannon.

The committee charged with that duty have arranged for saluting as follows:

SALUTES.

Upon arrival of General Sherman and party, Tuesday evening, 19 guns.

On President Grant's arrival, Wednesday, 21 guns.

Arrival of Secretary of War and party, 17 guns.

General Sheridan's arrival, 17 guns.

Salute on Wednesday in honor of the day, and commencing at 6 o'clock a. m., 100 guns.

National salute at 12 m., 37 guns.

Evening guns, 13.

THURSDAY.

Salute commencing at 6 o'clock a. m., 100 guns.

National salute upon moving of procession, 37 guns.

Salute at Park during ceremony of unveiling Lincoln Statue, 37 guns.

Evening guns, 13.

The committee charged with that duty are making ample arrangements for the accommodation of those desiring to attend the exercises of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee at the Opera House, and of course there will be a large attendance. All members of the Society will be provided with tickets of admission to the ball upon receiving their badge at the office of the Secretary, at Room 2, Leland Hotel. The banquet promises to be a magnificent affair, as was expected at the hands of Messrs. Leland & Wiggins. The price of tickets has been fixed at $7, to be paid for by the holders, or by others who may desire to present them to guests or friends.

The arrangements for the dedication of the Lincoln Monument are of a very complete character. Gov. Oglesby, the orator of the day, will arrive on Wednesday.

The following is the order of

CITY DEPARTMENT.

...Police business is dull.

...Go to Imboden's for fresh cranberries.

...A number of country people are in the city to-day.

...Sweet cider is plentiful in the country everywhere at present.

...Travel on the Paris railroad is getting decidedly thin.

To-day is the anniversary of the battle of Queenstown, in 1812.

...Choice family flour at Neidermeyer's.

...Quails are not very plentiful, and sportsmen are not having quite so much sport as they expected.

...Candidates are consoling themselves with the [illegible] most over.

...After the [illegible] late pawpaws are ripe, and will be eagerly sought after by all the Decatur boys.

...Before long all improvements for the year 1874 will be at an end. Cold weather will put a stop to all further building.

...Jack & Son have a large lot of choice apples.

...The show window of Donaldson's store is a great attraction for small boys and girls.

...The Union Iron Works here are overrun with job work.

...Stant. Fields and his partner are tunning opposition to the paint [illegible] in "calcomining" walls and ceilings.

...A good part of the city carpenters are now at work putting up a new walk in front of Geo. Priest's flouring mill.

...Three car loads of hogs, three of cattle, one of zinc ore, and several cars of merchandise, went north over the Illinois Central road to day.

...J. Ullrich & Co. have the largest and choicest stock of bacon, sidemeat and sugar-cured hams ever offered in Decatur.

...Some express men have so little to do during the day that when they do get a job they want to charge a double price for doing it.

...I. J. Davis & Co. have a full line of envelopes of all sizes.

...Grain men are happy, for as soon as cold weather sets in the farmers begin to husk their corn, and sell it to the "middlemen," who now will make money at a lively rate.

...The board of registration for each precinct of Decatur township will sit to day and to-morrow at their respective voting places. All interested should take due notice and govern themselves accordingly.

...A petition is being circulated and quite generally signed, both by teachers and scholars to have the public schools close on Thursday, the day of the dedication of the Lincoln Monument.

...A company of "Uncle Sam's Boys in Blue" passed through the city to-day en route for Springfield, to be present and participate in the dedicatory ceremonies of the Lincoln monument and statue.

...E. B. Pratt & Son receive fresh crackers daily.

...A young student in this city asked his teacher to buy for him the best map of Europe he could find. He went to all the bookstores in Decatur and not one could be found.

...Tuttle's saw mill, five miles east of the city, is rapidly clearing away the plot of timber which surrounds the mill. Before long Mr. Tuttle will find it necessary to move his machinery into another neighborhood where timber abounds.

...J. P. Marsh is still making fine boots for all who call, and warrants perfect fits. Leave your orders early if you are in a hurry.

...Small bodies of water were covered with ice this morning, and a very heavy frost covered the ground. The freeze was rather harder than the night before, and the two have had the effect to give foliage upon the trees its autumnal hues.

...Car loads of coal come over the Paris railroad every day, the greater part of which is used by the Decatur rolling mill. The Western Coal Co. also get cars of coal from the Knightsville, Ind, coal mine every day.

...The Sheriff and some of the constables are to-day scouring the country for jurymen to attend the county court now in session. We suppose from this that they do not intend to rely upon the professional jurymen that hang about the court house during every term of court, waiting for a call.

...There is said to be a case of domestic coolness in town arising from the fact that the husband is exceedingly attentive to ladies not of his household, calling upon them at late hours of the night. Now, is it possible that any woman would be so foolish as to take exception to that kind of proceeding on the part of her husband? She that would do it must be in the highest degree unreasonable.

LETTER FROM A GRANGER.

[illegible] I addressed a large audience of the faithful last night in old man Hedge's kitchen. My time was mostly devoted in showing that Mr. Pickrell [illegible] calibre, as some of the anti-grange editors have insinuated. I showed conclusively that a man who is able to sell a small calf to his neighbor for $200 [illegible] a great statesman. When I had finished my speech [illegible] Hopping- [illegible] which was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Some evil-designing men have circulated a report that Mr. Pickrell is not the equal as a statesman of Henry Clay and Stephen A. Douglas; therefore,

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to wait upon the celebrated [illegible] and give him a hundred dollars to proceed to Harristown and make a scientific report of Mr. Pickrell's qualifications for a congressman.

That will settle the matter [illegible] the [illegible] all.

I will make a speech in Decatur next [illegible] to get a load of coal, so I may as well kill two birds with one stone. I buy my coal of Fred Smith, although [illegible] is not a granger, says in the Magnet that Fred. don't give but 2100 for a ton. Fred used to husk corn for me, and I believe him to be an honest, simple-minded kind of a fellow.

Moving Back.—A Republican [illegible] man, with his family, was moving back to his old home in the Hoosier State, from whence he had emigrated two years ago, and found the emigrant to be a man of more than ordinary intelligence. He said that if it wasn't for the "d—d hoppers" Kansas would be the best State in the Union for raising crops or stock. He says that the soil is rich and the weather favorable for crops of all kinds. Stock water is plenty, and the country he lived in had the healthiest climate he had ever known. There was one burying ground in the country around, and that was at the county seat. In the four years the country had been settled only 30 bodies had been buried, and 20 of these were horse-thieves, who had been hung.

The emigrant was positive that a great number could not get rid of their claims and move out of the State before winter, and such will be visited by famine and want unless relief is sent them.

He knew that as long as the grasshopper scourge was prevalent in Kansas all movers would "steer clear" of that State.

Mr. Cannon at Blue Mound.—The Republican meeting at Blue Mound last evening was largely attended, and the speech of Mr. Cannon was listened to with the greatest interest and attention by all present. Mr. Roby also addressed the meeting, and made an excellent impression. These little meetings throughout the county are having a fine influence, and wherever they are held the report comes of an increasing interest in the issue of the election, and a promise of Republican gains.

An Old Settler.—On yesterday we were shown a box in the Illinois Central freight house, upon which was carved 1661, which was evidently intended to indicate the date of its manufacture. The sides of it were covered with curiously carved work of various designs of by gone centuries. Its dimensions were about 3x2, and its height was about the same as its width. It is directed A Vuille, Macon, Ill., as were several other packages lying by its side. It seemed to be filled with wares of considerable weight.

Those Superb Cigars at Kepler's are the admiration of all smokers.

A Fool in Good Hands.—Yesterday evening about 5 o'clock, we noticed passing down the sidewalk on East Main street, between the old square and Water street, a man with more "benzine" aboard than he could well carry. He was leaning lovingly upon the arm of a woman, who we supposed might be his wife, who had about all she could do to keep him on his pins. He was strongly inclined to halt by the way to observe articles in the windows of the stores and comment upon them, and it required considerable coaxing to get him along. The woman looked as if she would like to sink through the sidewalk to escape observation, yet true to the impulses of a good wife, she helped the besotted creature along as best she could, and seemed determined to get him home. They were both quite neatly dressed, which was certainly a high compliment to a woman who is, unfortunately, yoked with a man who makes himself a fool by indulging a depraved appetite.

Total Eclipse.—There will be a total eclipse of the moon on the night of Oct. 24th and the morning of the 25th. The eclipse begins at half past seven, on the night of the 24th, and will continue four hours, the last shadow will be off the moon's face at 4 o'clock the next morning. The total phase will only last about a half hour. No doubt the Decatur people will be up to witness this eclipse, which is visible only in North and South America and the Sandwich Islands.

Anniversaries.—To-morrow is the anniversary of two decisive battles, viz.: The battle of Hastings, in 1066, which gave William, of Normandy, sole possession of England; and the battle of Jena in 1806, which laid Prussia at the feet of Napoleon Bonaparte.

COUNTY COURT.

OCTOBER 13, 1874.

Court [illegible] Judge S[illegible] G[illegible] presiding.

The case of Werner vs. Carroll was tried by jury, and occupied the attention of the court up to the time of adjournment.

Upon the re-assembling of court this afternoon the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, assessing damages at $209.50.

Dwellings in Demand.—As winter approaches there is an increasing demand for houses to rent. Many apologies for dwellings that have served as a kind of shelter through the summer are entirely unfit for winter habitation, and their occupants are looking about for something better, as the wind creeps in through the cracks and crevices, reminding them that they cannot be comfortable where they are. All such have an exceedingly poor prospect before them in this town. Many of the shells called houses, for which ten to twenty dollars per month are demanded, are structures in which farmers in some parts of the country would seem to place their hogs and cattle during the winter months. But people who are not able to own houses will have to stand it, and shiver in such old shells as they may be able to secure.

Miss M. Falconer will give her fall and winter Millinery Opening, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 22d and 23d. All are invited. [13-d8t

Dangerous Fun.—It is thought by many that in some cases where fellows have been seen lurking about houses after night, that they were simply doing so to frighten the female inmates in the known absence of men. It may be so in some cases, but we would suggest any persons inclined to indulge in that kind of sport that it is a dangerous practice. If they should chance to be fooling around a house where there are women who know how to handle a shooting iron, they might meet a reception that would make their sport cost them dear. A volley of cold lead would make them smile at the wrong corner of the mouth. All such amusements had better be dispensed with.

An Important Decision.—This morning Judge Greer, of the county court, decided that no prosecution for a criminal offense could be maintained in any court of record if brought otherwise than by indictment, the effect of which decision was to set aside the jurisdiction of this court in all cases pending which were brought by information or affidavit.

A Subject of Daily Remark.—We hear it every day on our streets that Decatur is assuming more and more the appearance of a large, business like city. Each season large brick building houses are erected and manufactories are settled here. To observe the progress of our city one must look back three or four years and note how many buildings and factories have opened up here since then.

Old smokers are convinced that Pahmeyer has the purest Havana Cigars in the city. 2d tues&fri

Westward Ho!—Notwithstanding the discouraging accounts given by returning emigrants of Missouri and Kansas, some are moving to that country this fall. This morning four wagon loads of movers passed through town in that direction.—Those who go there will need a liberal supply of means to help them through until spring. Another year may bring them good crops.

Progressing.—Work upon the filter for the water works is progressing finely. The pump is now in operation, and the work of sinking the bottom of the pit below the river bed is being done as fast as possible. This part of the job will require some little time, but a full force of workmen is employed, and it is expected that the filter will be completed before the ground freezes.

The Question Answered.—"How Linn & Scruggs employ so many salesmen and sell goods cheap." They keep the largest stock of dry goods in Decatur—they retail more goods than any other Dry Goods House in the United States, according to population, and their expenses are less in proportion to sales. Besides they are thus enabled to buy most of their goods of first hands and by the Case and Package, which gives them great advantage over small dealers. jun 2-d&wly

One-Third Actually Saved.—Economical housekeepers should know that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is a perfect powder, and as such is very light, and that those powders which weigh heavy are made so by dangerous adulterants. As baking powders are used by measure, teaspoonfuls, and not by weight, the heavier ones being less effective are more expensive.

Dr. Price's cans are the same size, hold the same number of teaspoonfuls as others, and as two teaspoonfuls only are needed when three of the others are required, it will be perceived that there is in its use an actual saving of one-third; that two cans of Dr. Price's go as far as three cans of the common kinds. Dr. Price's powder is not sold in bulk; it can only be found pure when bought in cans securely labelled. [oct10-1aw1w.

For Several Years numerous experiments have been making for burning our soft coal successfully in a self-feeding magazine stove, that would require the fire to be built but once during the season, and one in which fire could be kept from ten to thirty-six hours, without replenishing. Cherry Pectoral,

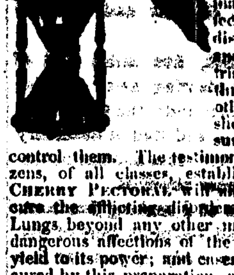
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping-Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.



Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy, it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attack of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, CHERRY PECTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toil is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.
